

Ruth 3:15f-18

Boaz returns to Bethlehem—3:15f Then he (some texts say “she”) went into the town.

- 1) Probably to begin preparations for fulfilling Ruth’s proposal

Ruth returns to Bethlehem and Naomi—3:16-18

- 1) Ruth speaks—3:16-17
  - a) Naomi asks about Ruth’s current status—3:16 “Who are you, my daughter?”
    - i) The question is not to be taken literally. It is a figure of speech.
      - (1) Naomi calls Ruth “my daughter,” so she obviously knows who she is.
      - (2) Ruth’s answer has nothing to do with her name.
    - ii) What Naomi wants to know is, “What was Boaz’s response to your actions? Did Boaz accept the proposal? Who are you now in relationship to Boaz? Are you still a Moabite widow, or do you belong to Boaz?”
  - b) Ruth gives a general answer—Then she told her all that the man had done for her.
  - c) Ruth specifically explains the generosity of Boaz—3:17 “These six measures (probably seahs, cf. 3:15) of barley he gave to me, for he said, ‘Do not go back empty [cf. 1:21] to your mother-in-law.’”
    - Obviously the narrator did not record this statement by Boaz back in 3:15.
      - i) The emptiness of provisions is now resolved.
      - ii) The emptiness of a loving provider is about to be resolved.
- 2) Naomi advises cautious optimism based on Boaz’s well-known character—3:18
  - a) What is Ruth to do? “Stay, my daughter,
    - i) There is a time for action and a time for waiting. Sometimes it’s hard to know which we are to do. Cf. Proverbs 16:1, 9; Ecclesiastes 3:1-8
    - b) For how long? until you learn how the matter will turn out;
    - c) Why? because the man will not rest until he has completed the matter today.”
      - i) Was his extremely generous gift of grain a sign of future commitment?
  - b) For how long? until you learn how the matter will turn out;
  - c) Why? because the man will not rest until he has completed the matter today.”
    - i) Was his extremely generous gift of grain a sign of future commitment?
- 3) These are the last recorded words of both Naomi and Ruth in the book. They step aside as Boaz now takes center stage.

Questions:

- Do you find it hard to wait patiently while God works through others in answer to our prayers? (cf. 1:8-9)
- Is God’s providence ever in a predicament?
- Do people have confidence in you that you will complete the task you willingly accepted?
- Do our plans and proposals reflect Biblical faith and love?

Take-home truths:

- God’s providential work uses the initiative of human instruments.
- As we show sacrificial loyal-mercy to others, God providentially uses us to restore hope in others and help secure their future.
